GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

China on the Ocean.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—British and American shipmasters are discussing the question whether the Chinese are likely to own and run steamers to America and England. Their rapid acquisition of the carrying trade in Chinese waters leads prominent merchants to believe that only low rates now prevents them from entering in competition with foreigners on ocean carrying. In the event of a rise Mongolians are likely to enter the market.

The Situation at Fort Robinson.

FORT ROBINSON, Neb., Jan. 25.—Private Howl, an ambulance driver, started to drive to old camp, one mile distant, this afternoon. He was found lying in the road with his skull fractured. It is not known whether the wound was caused by a gunshot or by falling from the ambulance. His condition is critical and the wound cannot be examined to-night. Wednesday night a trumpeter arrived from Old camp and reported being fired on by a party concealed in the ravine. It is believed that either Indians or bad white men are in the bluffs. Companies A, E, D, H and M of the 5th cavalry, under Captain Morris, arrived here to-day and leave in the morning for the sand hills, where Little Wolf and a band of two hundred Cheyennes are reported to be. Companies A, F, E and L of the 3d cavalry leave for their respective stations early next week, leaving but two companies at this post.

Testimony Favorable to Reno.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—In the Reno inquiry to-day Captain Moylan testified that he believed it was a wise move for Reno to leave the timber, and necessary for the preservation of the command. In picking up the dead bodies of fifteen men after the massacre, evidences appeared of desperate fighting. He saw nothing cowardly in Major Reno's conduct. He charged on the Indians or remained in the timber he would have been annihilated.

Colored Democrats from Sumter county testified that there were from 1,500 to 2,000 colored Democrats in the county, and hundreds of them were seen to vote the Democratic ticket. Two testified to being hooted, jeered at and threatened by colored Republicans, one being obliged to leave his church.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25.—Taking testimony before the Teller committee before Commissioner Pierce was continued to day. J. P. Hartman, L. Hassel, J. Moses, Wm. Levy and others of Natchitoches, testified, being called on by the Democrats. They generally contradicted statements made by Republican witnesses as to intimidation; also that many negroes voted the Democratic ticket.

A Raid on Horse Thieves.

The fire originated from the carelessness of the employees were promptly rescued in attempting to arrest the flames, about 250 in number, were promptly rescued and now occupy the court house in the city, everything being done for their comfort. They have suffered some from exposure and excitement. The building was erected four years ago, at a cost of $190,000. Eighteen months ago there was $100,000 insurance, but the state refused an appropriation to continue the same, therefore the loss is total.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan 25.—Wright and Johns, two convicted members of the Brevard county canvassing board escaped to-night from the county jail.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Proposed Indian Transfer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The joint congressional committee appointed to consider the advisability of transferring the Indian bureau from the interior to the war department, this morning voted on the subject with the following result: Against transfer, Senators Saunders and Oglesby, and Representatives Stewart and Voorhees—4. In favor of transfer, Senator McCreary and Representatives Scales, Hooker and Boone. After the vote controversy arose as to which of the two reports should be given precedence in presentation to congress. Opponents of the transfer claim that its advocates, failing to obtain a majority, must consider their minority report as an amendment offered to the existing law, which fails upon a tie vote. The matter remains undecided.

The equal division of the joint committee on the Indian transfer question makes it certain that no legislative provision for the proposed transfer has any chance of passage during the short remainder of the present session. The fact that the old Democratic members of the joint committee favor the project would seem to indicate, however, that it is likely to be made a party measure, and in this event its enactment by the next congress, with both houses under Democratic control, would be apparently assured.

Linderman at the Point of Death—His Successor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Director Linderman's condition is growing worse so rapidly that his death is expected at almost any hour. A Bill Affecting the Salaries of District Attorneys.

The house committee on reform in the civil service has authorized representative Durham to report for passage his bill fixing the compensation for district attorneys in lieu of fees.

The Chinese Immigration Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—In view of the great pressure of other business and the possibility that members interested in various bills which have been partially considered in the house and laid aside without final action, may combine to rescind the special assignment of all next Tuesday for consideration of the anti-Chinese immigration bill, Chairman Goode and Representative Willis are inclined to think it to be advisable to notify the house that the previous question will be demanded on its passage after debate of only short duration. They are confident that there is no need of any extended advocacy of its provisions, but will confer with the California delegation to morrow before deciding upon a definite programme.

The Tax on Cigars.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The senate finance committee will report against a reduction of the tax on cigars.

Postal Changes.

The following are the postal changes for the Pacific coast, for the week ending yesterday: Established—Oneatta, Benton county, Oregon, R. A. Bensell, P. M.; Terrysville, Baker county, Oregon, G. J. Gray, postmaster. Office discontinued—Clear Creek, Columbia county, Oregon.

The Public Surveys.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The house committee on appropriations decline to make public the exact intentions concerning the proposed consolidation of the public surveys, but it is positively ascertained that one clause already inserted by them in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, which is nearly completed, for report to the house, provides for abolishing all surveyor-generals' offices throughout the country, and for having the public land surveys executed by corps of officers under the direct control of a Washington bureau to be known as the coast and interior survey. The committee may yet, however, change their action, as great pressure is being exerted upon them from various directions, and controversy will, in any event, be carried into the house of Representatives.

Postage Stamp Business.

Returns of gross receipts from sales of stamps, etc., at the principal postoffices of the country during the last year show a total of $406,000 from San Francisco. The next on list are Brooklyn, $356,000, and Baltimore, $362 000. Those exceeding San Francisco were New York, with $2,866,006; Chicago, $971,000; Boston, $346,000; Philadelphia, $951,000; St. Louis, $464,000, and Cincinnati, $417,000.

Independent Democratic Comment.

[From the Dalles Inland Empire.]

This imputation of unfair and sinister motives to President Whiteaker and Speaker Thompson, in the selection of the committee, is not calculated to help Senator Grover in popular estimation. The people of Oregon are as shrewd judges of human nature as the senator; and they know John Whiteaker and John Thompson to be honest men, while the Portland Homestead affair and the McClane mortgage business have made the senator's name an exclamation point in more mouths than one. It is rather late in the day for one whose election to the United States senate necessitated an investigating committee to trave clear across the continent, to seek to besmirch the fairness and impartiality of one whose acts as governor entailed no loss to the public treasury of this state; and as for John and George Thompson, we have yet to hear the first equivocal act imputed to either of them.

There are many things said by public men which might as well be left unsaid, and these utterances of Senator Grover are among them. We have known John Whiteaker and John Thompson for ten years, and they are men who have done Lane county honor in every public station. Of our state senator, George Thompson we know less personally; but we will say that were it not that Lake county is fairly entitled to the selection of state senator from this district in 1880, we should insist on his renomination. As for White and Galloway, the other two members of the committee, their public record as representatives of the people is superior to any partisan record they may have. The people of Oregon indorse the committee, and will do so again, if necessary, at the ballot box.

Timely Remark About Jo. Cook.

[From the Boston Herald.]

Those who know the extravagant claims which have been made for Joseph Cook by his injudicious friends will enjoy the New Haven Palladium's remark. "The Rev. Joseph Cook has been talking about resumption, but his proverbial modesty precludes him from saying that it is the result of his lectures."

Sale of Silver in Europe.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Times says that Germany sold and Russia bought one hundred thousand pounds of silver yesterday at 51d per ounce. The market closed rather unsettled, and there appeared to be more buyers at that price. Silver is quoted to day at 50¾d per ounce.

The British-African War.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—News from South Africa is that the Zulu king refuses all British demands. The king has assembled eight thousand men on the border. Gen. Chelmsford and staff left Cape Town on January 3d for the front, and the British troops advanced, reinforcements having arrived. French Paragraphs.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—A Paris dispatch says that a youth has been arrested at Lille for threatening to assassinate Gambetta. The threat was a mere fool's attempt to extort money.

The budget for 1880 was presented to the chamber of deputies yesterday. It estimates the surplus at 265,000.

The Plague Spreading.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Russian and German medical journals state that East Europe is in a state of great alarm at the rapid progress of the plague towards the north and east of Russia from the Caspian sea along the course of the Volga. One difficulty in preventing the spread of the plague is the want of physicians. About one third of the Russian doctors died, either during the war or from the typhoid fever, which followed it, and a large number of young students have been summoned from hospitals and medical schools to take their places. One medical journal insists on the importance in the interest of all Europe, of providing Russia with doctors and helping her keep down the plague.

"Oh, the Cold and Cruel Winter."

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The weather in Great Britain continues severe, and the number of destressed poor is greatly increased. In Paris trade is almost suspended by snow. In Brittany and other provinces telegraphic and railway communication are interrupted. Lighthouse are abandoning their stations on account of ice. The navigation of the Scheldt is declared dangerous, and pilots are only granted if masters of vessels will assume all responsibility.

The Sutro Tunnel.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—Adolph Sutro says there is no truth in the report that an offer has been made to allow the mines to complete the sub drain and take their pay out of royalty when they commence raising ore. He also states that a purported interview published in the New York World, about continuing the tunnel on through Mount Davidson in search of gold-bearing quartz, is all bosh. No such interview was ever had. He does not intend to allow the mines to use the tunnel for drainage until all the leading Comstock mines come to a fair understanding with him.

Government Telegraph from Walla Walla to Lewiston.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—Among the overland arrivals on Thursday evening was Lieut. S. C. Vedder, of the signal corps, U. S. A. Lieut. CONGRESSIONAL.

House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.

Soon after assembling, the house went into committee of the whole on the postoffice appropriation bill, and Blount explained the provisions. It appropriates thirty-four million nine hundred and sixty thousand dollars, a decrease of about two millions from the estimates, and an increase of one million over the appropriation of last year, but for the legislation of the Democratic house during the last three years, the appropriation this year would have been at least three millions larger than it was.

Baker, of Indiana, said that last year he predicted that when the postoffice bill was before the house the appropriation was insufficient and would end in deficiencies; that the prediction had come true, and with equal certainty the same prediction might be made about the present bill. Any attempt to cripple the railway mail service or steamer service was a crime against the country.

The bill was then read by sections for amendment.

Blount would increase the appropriation for postoffice clerks from $1,467 to to $1 515 000.

Baker, of Indiana, offered an amendment to the amendment increasing the sum to $1,600,000, as asked for in the estimates, agreed to and the amendment as amended was adopted.

Page offered an amendment increasing the appropriation for letter carriers from $1,900,000 to $2,000 000 the amount of the estimate.

Townsend of Ohio and Harrison supported the amendment, asserting that the free delivery system was not only self sustaining, but brought a large revenue into the treasury.

Blount opposed the amendment, saying that there were only four cities where the free delivery system brought any revenue.

After further discussion the amendment was agreed to by a vote of 78 to 69.

Waddell offered an amendment directing postoffice employes on railways who cancel stamps to keep an account of stamps cancelled, the same to be credited to the postmaster at the station where mail was put on the cars, for the purpose of fixing the basis of pay of such postmaster; adopted.

Money offered an amendment increasing the appropriation for transportation on steamer routes from $5,690,000 to $5,900 000.

Blount called attention to the fact that during the last eight years that the Republicans had control of the house, they had only made an annual increase of $200 000 in the matter of steamer service, while since the Democrats had obtained control, they had added some $950,000.

Penn advocated the amendment and mentioned the case of a populous mining settlement in Idaho, where miners had to contribute $90 per month in order to get their mail.

Chalmers characterized the economy of his own side of the house as parsimony. It reminded him of a man coming home from his luxurious club and finding fault with his wife for having two candles burning. It was tallow candle economy.

Durham and Blount defended the position taken by the committee on appropriations and argued that the sums recommended for railroad service and for steamer service were liberal and ample.

After further discussion Money's amendment increasing the appropriation for steamer service to $5,900,000 was adopted.

The committee rose and the house adjourned.

SETTLEMIER VS. SULLIVAN.

OPINION OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE U. S.—SERVICE OF SUMMONS—JURISDICTION OF THE PERSON.

Jesse H. Settlemier vs. William J. Sullivan—Error to the circuit court of the United States for the district of Oregon.

Mr. Justice Field delivered the opinion of the court.

This is an action for the possession of land in the state of Oregon. The plaintiff asserts title to them under a patent of the United States, issued in 1875 to Durcharme and wife, a previous conveyance by them to one Meagers, and a deed by the latter and wife in 1877.

The defendant claims to have acquired the title to the premises by a sheriff's deed, made in 1862, on a sale of the property under execution upon a judgment recovered against Meagers in one of the courts of Oregon. The case turns upon the validity of this judgment. The demand in the complaint is for 214 acres of land, but the answer disclaims title to portions of the premises alleged to have been previously sold, and the recovery was had for the residue.

It appears from the record that the judgment, the validity of which we are required to consider, was rendered in September, 1861, in the circuit court of the county of Marion, in favor of one Samuel Walker against Meagers for something less than $200, in an action upon two promissory notes of the defendant, one for $100 and one for $30, each drawing interest at the rate of two per cent. a month. The complaint contained copies of the notes, and prayed judgment for the amount with accruing interest. Endorsed upon it was a notice which, in the system of procedure then prevailing in the state, took the place of process, addressed to the defendant, stating that unless he appeared in the circuit court for the county of Marion on the third Monday of September, then following, and answer the complaint, it would be taken as confessed, and its prayer be granted.

The complaint and notice were not served upon the defendant personally, but on the 2d of September, 1861, were served upon his wife, by delivering copies to her "at the usual abode," she being, according to the certificate of the sheriff, "a white woman over fourteen years of age." No statement is made by the officer that the defendant could not be found, nor is any reason given why personal service was not made upon him.

On the second day of the ensuing term, the 17th of September, judgment was rendered against the defendant for the amount due upon the notes as prayed. Its entry is preceded by a statement that on that day the plaintiff came by his attorneys, but that the defendant, although duly served with process, came not, but made default." Upon this judgment execution was issued and the property in controversy was sold.

In tracing his title through the sheriff's deed the defendant produced a copy of the entry of the judgment mentioned, without producing the complaint and notice and the sheriff's certificate of service. The omission was afterwards supplied by the plaintiff against the objection that the recital of service upon the defendant in the judgment could not be contradicted or impeached by the return of the sheriff, and that the entire judgment roll and not detached portions of it should be produced in any attempt to contradict and impeach the recital. The plaintiff then produced a copy of the judgment similar to that already offered by the defendant. These papers constituted under the statutes of the state, in force at the time, the judgment roll in the case, that is, the official records of the proceedings, showing the nature of the action, the manner in which jurisdiction over the person of the defendant was acquired, and the character of the judgment. Those statutes provided that in case of judgment by default, the judgment-roll should consist of copies of the complaint and notice, with the proof of service, and a copy of the judgment or decree. In cases of judgment after appearance, the notice and proof of service could be omitted from the roll, as the pleadings would be sufficient in such cases to show the jurisdiction of the court. But in case of judgment by default the proof of service of the complaint and notice was to constitute an essential portion of the record, and that proof, when furnished by the sheriff, could by the statute only consist of his official certificate, or that of one of his deputies, whose acts in that respect were in legal effect his. There was no suggestion at the trial that there were any other documents which could be regarded as part of the official record in the case, the objection taken being that detached portions were at different times introduced, and not the whole at once. The defendant relied upon the recital in the entry of the default preceding the judgment, and the absence of any object for which the plaintiff desired to put in evidence the same recital.

The documents constituting the official record of the action being introduced, the court instructed the jury that the judgment was void for want of jurisdiction in the court rendering it over the person of the defendant, and directed a verdict for the plaintiff. A verdict to that effect was accordingly rendered and judgment rendered thereon, to review which the present writ of error is brought. The intruction given to the jury constitutes the error alleged for a reversal of judgment.

If the certificate of the sheriff were the only document in the record referring to the service of the complaint and notice, there would be no doubt as to the correctness of the ruling of the court below. Service upon the wife of the defendant was not service upon him. No theoretical unity of husband and wife can make any service upon one equivalent to service upon the other. Personal citation to the defendant, or his voluntary appearance, is the essential preliminary to a purely personal judgment. The statute of the state in force at the time required service or notice in cases other than those brought against corporations, or persons laboring under some disability, as minors, or as being of unsound mind, to be made by delivering a copy to the defendant personally, or if he could not be found, to some white person of his family above the age of fourteen years, at his dwelling house or usual place of abode. If it be admitted that substituted service of this kind upon some other member of the family is sufficient to give the court jurisdiction to render a personal judgment against its head, binding him to the payment of money or damages, it can only be where the condition upon which such service is permissible is shown to exist. The inability of the officers to find the defendant was not a fact to be inferred, but a fact to be affirmatively stated in his return. The substituted service in actions purely in personam was a departure from the rule of the common law, and the authority for it if it could be allowed at all, must have been strictly followed.

Such we find to be the ruling of the supreme court of Oregon. In Trullinger vs. Todd (5 Oregon Rep., 36) judgment was entered by default for want of an answer by the clerk, in vacation, under the act of 1868, upon a certificate of the sheriff that he had served the summons upon the defendant "by delivering a copy thereof to a person of the family above the age of fourteen years, at the dwelling house or place of abode of the defendant," and the court held the certificate insufficient to authorize the entry of judgment in not containing the fact that the defendant could not be found. The statute, so far as the manner of service was concerned, was similar to that of June 4, 1859, in force in 1861, a summons being substituted for the notice. "The statute," said the court, "in providing how service shall be made, evidently implies that when a summons is placed in the hands of an officer for service, that he will use ordinary diligence, at least, to find the party against whom the summons is issued, in order that he may make personal service upon him; but after using ordinary diligence, if he should fail to find such party, constructive service may be made, and when such service is made the certificate should contain the fact that the party could not be found." The court thus having held the judgment void, the only question left for its determination was whether it could entertain an appeal from it, as a void judgment could be disregarded and treated as a nullity whenever any right was claimed under it, whether set aside or not. It maintained the appeal solely for the purpose of reversing the judgment and thus purging its records.

Here it is contended that the recital in the entry of the default of the defendant in the case in the state court, "that, although duly served with process, he did not come but made default," is evidence that due service on him was made, notwithstanding the return of the sheriff, and supplies its omission. But the answer is that the recital must be read in connection with the part of the record which gives the official evidence prescribed by the statute. This evidence must prevail over the recital, as the latter, in the absence of an averment to the contrary, the record being complete, can only be considered as referring to the former.

We do not question the doctrine that a court of general jurisdiction acting within the scope of its authority—that is within the boundaries which the law assigns to it with respect to subjects and persons—is presumed to act rightly and to have jurisdiction to render the judgment it pronounces, until the contrary appears. But this presumption can only arise with respect to jurisdictional facts, concerning which the record is silent. It cannot be indulged when the evidence respecting the facts is stated or averments respecting them are made. If the record is silent with respect to any fact which must have been established before the court could have rightly acted, it will be presumed that such fact was properly brought to his knowledge. But if the record give the evidence or make an averment with respect to a jurisdictional fact, it will be taken to speak the truth, and the whole truth, in that regard; and no presumption will be allowed that other and different evidence was produced, or that the fact was otherwise than as averred. "If, for example," to give an illustration from the case of Galpin vs. Page, (18 Wallace, 366), "it appears from the return of the officer or the proof of service contained in the record, that the summons was served at a particular place, and there is no averment of any other service, it will not be presumed that service was also made at another and different place, or if it appear in like manner that the service was made upon a person other than the defendant, it will not be presumed, in the silence of the record, that it was made upon the defendant also."

We are of opinion that the principle here stated applies in this case. The record from the state court showed service upon the wife of the defendant in that case, and not upon the defendant; and in the absence of anything of the court that other service was made, or, the finding of a fact from which other service must necessarily be inferred; none will be presumed. Other service will not be presumed from its assumption in a recital in the entry of a default. It follows that the judgment of the court below must be affirmed, and it is so ordered.

HORSE BREEDING IN EAST OREGON.

[From the Dalles Inland Empire.]

Probably no region of America affords to the lover and breeder of fine horses the same inducements as Eastern Oregon. Here we have countless acres of the richest pasturage, together with a strong and healthy climate which infuses the ozone into a horse's lungs and makes him big through the heart. Add to this the cheap price of land and we can readily see how favored is this fair land of ours.

The annual auction sales of yearling colts and fillies at the old Belle Meade stud farm, owned by Gen. W. G. Harding, near Nashville, Tenn., for the past two years, have averaged $428 at public vendue. This is getting back one's money out of horseflesh, but it must be borne in mind that these colts and fillies were the sons and daughters of the noted stallion Bonnie Scotland, the most successful sire now in America. But these are exceptional figures, though far below those realized for the yearlings by Lexington in the two last years after the old sightless hero's death.

Wasco county, thanks to the enterprise of Billy Isham, is far ahead of all other counties in Oregon in the production of the thoroughbred horse. Within the past ten years we have had four sons of Lexington—Norwich Dr. Lindsey, Foster and Luther—kept for service in this county, two grandsons of Lexington—Amit by War Dance and George Wilkes by Asteroid; and Jack Minor, a son of Mahomet. Hence there is a good chance already started here for some enterprising breeder to start a stud farm, which in a few years more would grow into a valuable piece of property.

The Walla Walla turfmen have been making purchases of some fine mares, imported hither by Nathan Coombs last year, and have already inaugurated an annual racing event called the Walla Walla Derby, which will not only attract visitors to the Garden City, but will also make a market for thoroughbred horses at that place. At that place, or in its immediate neighborhood, from time to time have been kept the thoroughbred sires Aunt, Delaware, Sidney Barbridge and Shannon, the latter being a full brother to the noted mare Mollie McCarthy.

The fickle climate of the Willamette valley renders it unfit for training at any season, and hence no great racing events ever can be accurately fixed there. But here, if a good agricultural society be started, breeding for the turf and the road will soon be encouraged, and we shall have extensive training grounds and truly splendid race courses fitted up, to say nothing of receiving visitors from all sections of the state, who would come here to purchase horses of high quality. This place will always be a sort of half way house between Portland and Walla Walla, and the horses intended to participate in races of importance hereafter held at either of those points could be given their preliminary training here.

Parties engaged in horse breeding in the older states, who have become overstocked, would do well to take a little run out here next summer and see this bunch grass country. The day is not far distant when horses bred in Eastern Oregon will be taken back to participate in all the great events at Saratoga and Long Branch. We remember Captain Moore's astonishment in San Francisco the night his horse Foster arrived there from Oregon, "He looks like the king of all the horses, Uncle Jammy," said he to Mr Bybee. The truth was, our grand climate and rich pasturage had improved the sumptuous son of Verona so that his owner did not recognize him.

Of course we have no rich breeders here like Gen. Harding, Geo. Lorillard, August Belmont or the late lamented Alexander to give us breeding facilities like those of Belle Meade or Big Springs. But we have as good sites for stud farms as any in Kentucky, with equally good pasturage and milder climate. Some of these days we may hope to see such enterprises inaugurated here, and then, with California and Nevada for a market, the superiority of Oregon horses over those bred in those states will not be long in becoming a parent.

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION.

The superintendent of public instruction in Pennsylvania puts on record in his annual report a conviction which he says he has long held, that the instruction in elementary schools is not as profitable as it might be made. Having said this the superintendent particularizes by declaring that lessons are given in arithmetic that cannot be understood, that an enormous amount of time is wasted in trying to teach the principles of abstract grammar, and that discipline is attempted in composition, geography and other branches on which much effort is thrown away. And further, that children are so crammed with "abstractions, definitions, formulas and calculations" as to render the whole work of teaching "dull, mechanical, and, too often, fruitless."

To this the Philadelphia Record appends some observations which are directly in the line of the views we have often expressed in regard to certain features in the management of our public schools. That paper holds, as we have done, that, for the most part, the useless instruction in the primary schools consists of the features required for admission into the higher departments. This is emphatically true as regards schools in the cities, and it will hold good for the provincial schools, so far as they imitate the town customs. The useless, if not directly injurious, features of the primary schools are those which are thrust upon them in order to complete the machinery of the so-called system. The remedy is not far to seek. It is to withdraw the energy now wasted in developing systems, and direct it entirely toward improving the methods of primary instruction. Sufficient mental and material force is now expended on the schools, but it is not exerted in the right direction. The remedy is to give less attention to the ornamental high schools and more to the alma mater of the people—the common schools. Children are bewildered and energy is wasted by too rigorous adherence to "method" and "system." Some development of intellectual powers beyond what young children in our schools can be expected to have attained is necessary before formulas and definitions which are pressed upon them can be comprehended. These can be understood only through their application. The process first and then the "rule." Bright children will often commit to memory rules and definitions fast enough, but after all will not know a syllable of their meaning till they go back and learn what they should have learned at first—namely, the processes out of which the rules and definitions are evolved. Then, after the process is comprehended, the precise manner in which it is formulated makes little difference.

THE CENSUS NEXT YEAR.

In the new census bill, which is under discussion before a joint committee of the two branches of congress, there is a provision which requires the appointment of superintendent by the president, but gives to the governors of the several states the power to nominate supervisors under whom the census is to be taken. There is disagreement in the joint committee over this proposition. Republicans profess to believe that it embraces a scheme on the part of the south to make fraudulent returns of population so as to increase the strength of that section in the house of representatives. They say that if the bill passes in this shape the returns will be so manipulated and made up as to secure for the south from ten to twenty more members than that part of the country can be fairly entitled to; and it is argued that those who would resort to the means which have been employed to make a "solid south" would not scruple to carry through this scheme to increase the political power of that section. Heretofore the census has always been taken under direction of the United States marshals, and it is urged that the proposition to make such a change at this time is in itself a circumstance calculated to produce suspicion. This seems to be the principal reason why the joint committee have dissgreed; though it may not have been made so prominent in the committee itself as it has been in political circles outside of it. One feature of the bill is certainly a good one, namely, a provision which invites each state and territory to take a census at intermediate five years, with agreement that the general government shall pay half the cost on condition that the census on these occasions shall be taken with blanks and schedules similar to those used by the United States. There certainly should be a census every five years, since, as has been well remarked in support of this clause, a decennial census becomes almost useless and obsolete before the next census period.

EAST SIDE NARROW GAUGE.

Throughout the Willamette valley, lying east of easy access to the river and railroad, is a large section of country which feels the want of better facilities of transportation. Many of our most productive agricultural localities, lying within the range of east side counties, are situated at distances from river and railroad which render hauling by wagon a slow, expensive and tedious process; and during almost half the year the roads are in such condition that all intercourse is virtually suspended. In view of the needs of the eastern portions of this tier of counties citizens have for a considerable time been discussing the chances of constructing a narrow gauge railroad, with southern terminus say at Springfield in Lane county, and with the northern terminus at some point on the Willamette river at or below Salem. If full benefit of the enterprise would be secured the road ought to be extended below Salem, both for the accommodation of the eastern portions of Marion and Clackamas, and also for the sake of reaching a point on the river easily accessible by steamboats at lowest stages of water. Salem, however, might, by taking an active interest and furnishing material assistance, become a point of importance on such a road, or indeed might become its terminus. But it would become important to secure such improvement of the river as would render the enterprise a really useful one. What prospect there is for its success we cannot really say. But it is stated that people interested are already making liberal pledges; and the Salem papers strongly urge that town to awake to the importance of the enterprise and seize the opportunity to secure the proposed road. A meeting of citizens of Waldo Hills is called, to be held on the 15th February, to decide what they will do toward subscribing stock and extending aid; and there is discussion of the subject looking to similar action at many other places.

The moribund Standard reprints from the mountebank Farmer the latter's statement that THE OREGONIAN does not quote the foreign wheat market high enough, and gives the statement a "glowing endorsement." Yet the Standard prints no other report of the foreign wheat market than that printed by THE OREGONIAN. Both are from the same source, and written at the same time with the same pen. Thus this stupid organ, in its anxiety to misrepresent THE OREGONIAN, impeaches itself. If 45s 6d can be obtained for wheat in the Liverpool market, as asserted by the mountebank Farmer, why don't its associate, the moribund Standard, print those figures as the true report, instead of giving the same quotations as THE OREGONIAN? This pair of scrupulous gentlemen haven't discernment to see how they are undoing their own and each other's work. Envy of THE OREGONIAN's position is their bond of friendship and the inspiration of their reckless assertions and clumsy contradictions, which recoil upon themselves.

There was a great Democratic "jamboree" at Columbus, Ohio, on the 8th January. And thereanent the Cincinnati Enquirer, a sound Democratic organ, speaks this sound sense: "One-tenth part of the money that was yesterday dumped into bad drink and worse buncombe would build a monument to Andrew Jackson lasting and attesting in a worthy manner the love and regard Ohio Democrats bear his memory; but then the designing, cunning, plotting man, greedy of political fame, would not have been afforded occasion to below his ideas and receive the applause of hungry and greedy guests assembled at the festive board."

Mr. J. R. Farish of the Commercial Reporter is preparing and will publish in a few days the most elaborate review of the general business of Portland, and of the great northwest of which Portland is the commercial center, that has ever appeared. It will cover a period of ten years, ending with the close of the year 1878. All branches of commerce and industry will be included. A great amount of labor has been expended on it, and we are assured it will be worthy, as a statistical review, of the promise it makes of being the fullest ever presented.

A recent letter by Secretary Sherman, in which he makes a frank defence of his policy of giving public creditors their choice between gold and silver coin, is bitterly attacked by the organs of fiat silver dollars. But as the secretary conclusively demonstrates that any other policy would place a gulf between gold and silver coin, he beats them at their own argument.

The Eugene City Guard acknowledges receipt of a lot of "waste paper" from Senator J. H. Mitchell. It says it would have thanked the postmaster at that place had he burned it in the office.

California journals claim that sufficient rain has fallen in most of the agricultural districts of that state to make a favorable outlook for farmers.

Poverty of Vanderbilt.

Taxpayers of the city of New York were astonished recently by the statement of William H. Vanderbilt, made under oath to the assessor, that he has no personal property subject to taxation. In a cartoon on the subject the Graphic represents Vanderbilt in a very ragged dress, boots out at the toes, etc.; and says editorially

> The master and virtual owner of the Harlem, Hudson River, New York Central, Lake Shore & Michigan Central Railroads, which connect the two great cities of the United States—New York and Chicago—and run through the richest and most populous part of this country; the owner of a controlling share in the stock of the great telegraph monopoly, the Western Union: the heir of $95,000,000 from his father; the holder of a mortgage for $35,000,000 on the Central Railroad; the projector and probably the owner of a fleet of ocean freight steamers; the owner of a stable of trotting horses which almost rival Bonner's in speed and cost; the man who is collecting at fabulous prices the choice or alleged choice productions of foreign artists, Messonier among them; the householder who lives in princely style, and who, because he is crippled for room in his present quarters, purchased for $500,000 property on Fifth avenue on which to erect a residence grander than any that New York now contains—this person declares under oath that after his debts are all paid he has no personal property.

The "Vigorous" Style.

In Illinois, too, they have a somewhat vigorous and personal style in their political discussions. Here is the Chicago Tribune, which has been making a vigorous fight against John A. Logan, saying:

> The blowers and strikers for Mr. Logan are fond of representing him as a "young man." He was old enough as long ago as 1832 to frame the Illinois black laws, for the capture and return to bondage of colored men escaping from slavery, and to fine, imprison and persecute white Illinois citizens who might give the panting, starving wretches a crust of bread or a day's shelter, and point the way north as they fled by night along the byways, and through the woods, and across the trackless prairies. This fact ought to settle the question of age pretty decisively.

MONDAY MORNING, JAN 27, 1879.

CITY.

CITY NEWS.—Says the Inland Empire: The Upper Columbia rose eighteen inches at Wallula during the fore part of the week. It fell again on Thursday owing to a re-turn of cold weather. Capts. Gray and Spencer are both here awaiting orders, and we guess there is probability that an extra boat will go up from Celilo Monday, if the river is clear of ice and weather holds good. At the same time we doubt if there will be any regular steamboating done above here before the 20th of March, if then. Capt. Geo. J. Ainsworth, assistant superintendent of the company, came up on Wednesday night, to see what the prospects of a reopening of navigation were. The following day, he went down to Celilo, to have the steamer John Gates made ready. A reconnoissance trip up the river as far as Squally Hook, was ordered to be made yesterday morning. but up to the time of our going to press, yesterday, we had heard nothing of its results."

CHURCH MEETINGS THIS WEEK.—It has been decided to change the union meetings from the Y. M. C. A. to the churches. This week they are to be held in the Congregational church every night except Sunday. A large choir will lead the singing. Mr. Wadhams will have charge of the music. The entire front platform will be given up to the singers, and a temporary platform will be erected in front of it for the speakers. Last night the church was packed. Dr. Lindsley preached to the audience room, assisted by Rev. Mr. Wilkinson, and Rev Cruzan had charge of the overflow meeting. Both were meetings of great power. To-night Rev. A. S. Coats will preach. In addition to the grand chorus, led by Mr. Wadhams, Mrs. Cruzan will sing "Ninety and Nine." The vestry will be opened for an overflow meeting, and used if necessary. "The Armer Bearer" will be the hymn book used. All are invited.

JANUARY DIGNITARIES.—The Inland Empire says: Gen. Howard, accompanied by his staff arrived here on Thursday night. The object of his visit is not altogether clear, unless it be to inspect the 600 Indians which will probably arrive here to-day, and confer with Capt. Winters, who commands the escort from Camp Harney, as to their ultimate disposal. The recent hanging of Indians at Umatilla is the first step toward peace, and, conforming to the wishes of the people of the east in that respect, Gen. Howard has the friends of many who were disposed to be hostile to him. The civil law still reigns supreme.

SHIPPING ITEMS.—The, Oban Bay, wheat laden, bound for Europe, left for Astoria yesterday morning. The following vessels leave next Wednesday or Thursday: The Caldwell Forest and the City of York. The Prince Edward, Capt. Linskell, the largest wooden ship in port, is chartered and will be away in about a week or ten days. The Orientes and Clarence, iron vessels, have not commenced loading. Three magnificent American vessels, the Centennial, Wildwood and the Annie M. Stubbs are as yet without charters.

SUNDAY SERVICES.—A very interesting service was held yesterday afternoon on board the bark Orientes. Capt. Jones had kindly given the use of his vessel. His officers had made arrangements to accommodate the audience comfortably between decks. Several of the prominent citizens, were present, besides a number of shipmasters and seamen; and considering the paucity of shipping now in port, the attendance was quite large.

JOURNAL.—The Congregational Sunday school has long been in need of a new library. On Saturday morning H. H. Northup, Esq., the superintendent, made a brief statement of the needs of the school before the congregation of the church. Mr. Cruzan then asked the sum for $100. Under his efficient leadership in a very few minutes, $160 was subscribed. Portlanders are too liberal to stop at such a Sunday school library.

THE COMTUX NIKA.—We have received a letter addressed to "The largest circulating newspaper" with a request to publish. It is written in Scandinavian, and may relate to business in the state of Denmark or if some-thing else equally important, and if some Shakspearean man of Hamlet will be kind enough to call and translate it, we will gladly comply with the request.

SO IT IS, WHY SO.—The Roseburg paper says: "We are informed that efforts are being made in Roseburg, to have the governor commute the sentence of death on the two negro murderers of Portland to imprisonment for life." Why people of Roseburg should interest themselves so much in the fate of these unfortunate Johns we are at a loss to conjecture.

CORRECTIONS.—Mr. Eliot requests any one who may be interested to read his words on the "County Jail System," published Saturday to make these corrections: For "grinding laws of law," read "guiding;" for "the crime committed a crime has not forfeited its right as a man," read "all;" for "it (the law) does more than furnish, it injures," read "punish."

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—Judge Deady will announce an opinion in this court this morning in the case of David Meyer vs. E. Caballin, the motion to dissolve the attachment. Judge Deady will also announce an opinion in the case of the United States vs. D. J. Mackey et al., in the same court.

REGULAR ANNUAL MEETING.—We are requested by Mr H. A. Ozer, librarian to state that the regular annual meeting of the members of the library association will be held on Monday, February 1st, when the president will read his report and other business of the association be transacted.

CHANGED PUBLICATION.—The publication of the German paper German Staats Zeitung which suspended publication some time ago has been resumed by Dr. Foulkman. It is a forty-four column paper and presents a neat typographical appearance.

ENTERTAINMENT.—On the evening of February 14th (Valentine's Day) a musical, literary and package entertainment will be given under the auspices of the members of George Wright Post No. 1, G. A. R, at their hall in this city.

BLEACHING.—Mr. J. R. Foster is causing the place of business at the corner of Front and Stark streets to be enlarged. His place of business has been too small for months past, and he has determined to increase the room.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Last Monday a boy named Reed died suddenly at McMinnville. Field had been afflicted for some time with rheumatism and dropsy when the disease attacked the heart causing his death in a few hours.

MUSIC LECTURE.—Next Friday evening Prof. J. H. Reed will lecture in the interest of the Philomathean Society at Masonic Hall, the subject being, "A Glimpse of England about A. D. 1700."

A HORRIBLE FATE.

JOSEPH CARMAN, AN ITALIAN, WHILE IN AN INTOXICATED CONDITION, SETS FIRE TO HIS HOUSE AND IS BURNED TO DEATH.—INQUEST OVER HIS CHARRED REMAINS.

Sunday morning about half past 12 o'clock a bright light was seen in East Portland in the vicinity of the car shops, caused by the burning of a house owned by Joseph Carman and its total destruction. Carman, who was addicted to the use of liquor, was found lying beastly drunk in an alley adjoining Adam Lope's saloon. He started for home about 10 or 11 o'clock, in company with one Wash. Jones. On arriving there he endeavored to light a coal oil lamp to see his way to bed, when from some cause or other it was explosized and the inflammable contents spilled over his clothes and the floor of the house, which quickly caught fire. The unfortunate man was too drunk to realize his terrible plight, and lay on the bed and was literally roasted to death. The neighbors in the vicinity flocked to the scene of the conflagration, and knowing that Carman was drinking recently, after the house was burned, made a diligent search for his body which they found on a pile of rubbish in the vicinity of his bed, a charred and unrecognizable mass of flesh. The lower limbs from the hips down were completely burned off, with the left arm up to the elbow, and also the fingers of the right hand, and the neck and shoulders presented a horrible sight. Coroner Cooke was notified and he crossed over to East Portland and took possession of the remains which he brought over to his office and held an inquest which elicited the facts above related. Deceased is a married man, his wife at present living in Vancouver, and leaves a host of friends behind to mourn his untimely end.

He was well known in this city under the name of "French Louie," and has worked as a waiter in all of the hotels and restaurants in this city. For a while back he has been employed as a fireman on the O. & C. R. R., but was discharged on account of his intemperate habits.

An inquest was held on the remains and the jury rendered the following verdict. That Louis Carmon came to his death while under the influence of liquor from the accidental burning of his house at East Portland at about half past 12 on the night of the 26th of January. J. H. Robinson, C. H. Wilson, R. Gilbert, R. Holman, C. Thomson, A. W. Watterbury.

AMUSEMENTS.

The matinee given at New Market Theater on Saturday afternoon was well attended by ladies and little folks, and was the source of much pleasure.

"Under the Gaslight" was repeated on Saturday evening. The cast was the same as on the occasion of the first performance and gave general satisfaction.

BOLON SHINGLE.—A splendid bill of fare will be set before the patrons of the theater this evening in the tragedy of Lucretia Borgia, with Miss Walters in the performance will commence with the thrilling the little solo. This will be followed by the appearance of the well known character delineator, Mr. C. B. Plummer, in the role of "Bolon Shingle." In this character Mr. Plummer ought to show up to very great advantage. His excellence in the portrayal of such characters is well established, and those who want to enjoy a good hearty laugh ought to be present this evening to avail themselves of so excellent an opportunity.

MR. WARD'S BENEFIT.—Wednesday night Mr. J. M. Ward, the popular commedian, will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit. On that occasion will be presented his great sensational drama in three acts, and prologue entitled "Through by Daylight or New York in Slices." The play will be presented with new scenery and with the full strength of the company. To give due effect to the piece, the City Rifles have kindly volunteered and will appear in full uniform in one scene. In addition, Mr. Ward will appear as "Micky Corrigan," in song and jig, Miss Carrie Clarke as "Julia" and Mr. Fred. Gere, as "Fleishman." Mrs. H Parrish kindly volunteered, and will render a song.

NEW BOOKS.

The following new books have just been received and added to the Portland library:

Walks in London; by Augustus J. C. Hare.

THE GRANT MOVEMENT.

Pascal said that if Cleopatra's nose had been a trifle shorter the whole history of the world might have been changed. On such slight causes do important things depend. Just now the "Grant movement" is mystifying the public. Why is he going to China? Why is he—in short, were this the "Grand movement" instead of the Grant, the change of the one letter would be sufficient to inform the public that it alluded to the grand movement in Blankets, Muslins and Dress Goods at the I. X. L. Auction Co., 172 First street. The movement after their $2 unbleached Moscow blankets is simply wonderful. The busiest house in town.

IN A STATE OF SIEGE.—The public have found where to get furniture, elegant, substantial and cheap, and are flocking to Edwards & Birmingham's, where everything to make a home comfortable can be found. Come one come all!! Corner Second and Yamhill streets, up stairs.

Never go to a second class gallery for a photograph, you will have to pay the same price that Bachtel charges for first class work.

The people appreciate low prices and good work by patronizing liberally, Abell the photographer, whose display speaks for itself. Don't forget the place.

DR H. F. Adams, the eye and ear and chronic disease physician, is still at the St. Charles Hotel, Portland.

Ladies' Woolen Stockings, 25 cents a pair, at Mrs. Charles Tichnor's, corner First and Yamhill streets, Portland.

For a nice fitting and stylish suit, ladies be sure to call at the popular IXL, 151 Third st., near Morrison

Ladies who want stylish ready made suits, call at Mrs. Pilger's, the leading dress maker of Portland. Alder street, near First.

For Dyspepsia, Damiana Bitters. Fleckenstein & Mayer are sole agents.

IT IS ASTONISHING with what rapidity ulcerous sores and eruptive maladies are cured by HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE, an external antidote to unhealthy conditions of the skin which is preferred by physicians to every other preparation containing the carbolic element. It is undoubtedly the finest antiseptic and purifier extant. It acts like a charm on purulent eruptions and has also been successfully used for rheumatism and sore throat. All druggists sell it. Price 25 cents. Beware of imitations. Ask for Henry's Carbolic Salve, and take no other.

INTERESTING TO LADIES.—Dickey's "Crème de Lis" has now been before the public for ten years, during which time this beautiful preparation has met with the highest approval at the hands of the fair sex—being as all who have used it will verify, the only perfect preparation of its kind. Every ingredient entering the composition of Dickey's "Creme de Lis" is subjected to the most rigid test of modern Chemistry, to insure the uniform ty and purity of its combination, and neither time nor expense have been spared to make it perfect—it being well known the public will appreciate and support a truly meritorious article. Several new beautifiers under various names have lately started into existence, but Dickey's "Creme de Lis" has no competition in merit. Sold by all druggists.

INAUGURAL INVITATION BALL.

One of the most enjoyable, brilliant and fashionable events of the present social season was the inaugural invitation ball which came off at Turn Halle last Saturday night. This very successful affair was given under the auspices of the Gordonia Social Club, recently organized in this city, the members of which are composed of a number of young gentlemen connected with the prominent business houses of Portland. As early as 9 o'clock the carriages began to arrive, and at 11 the large and brilliantly illuminated hall was thronged with a gay and fashionable assemblage of ladies and gentlemen. Dancing was continued without intermission until 12 o'clock when supper was announced and the participants in the merry dance adjourned to the large dining hall in the first story of the building, where an excellent collation was served. At half past one dancing was resumed and continued until five. The young gentlemen of the club composing the committee of arrangements, consisting of Mr. Julius L. Haas, Arthur Kohn, and George W. Hahn, request us to state that the names of those in attendance which appeared in yesterday's Standard were incorrect and were published without the authority, knowledge or consent of the committee. Throughout, the affair was well conducted, and great credit is due the committee for the thorough and care displayed in its management. The ball must be recorded as one of the most brilliant events which has taken place in Portland for months. splendid music was furnished by Prof Brenner's band.

ENJOY LIFE.

WHEN a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means for enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health, but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worried out with disease when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof that Green's August Flower will make them as free from disease as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint is the direct cause of seventy-five per cent of such maladies as Biliousness Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it. Sold by all druggists.

OREGON.

An amateur dramatic association has been organized at Pendleton.

Charley Hilton of Bakeoven has been appointed sheep inspector of Wasco county.

Several hundred sheep have recently been sold in Yamhill county for 75 cents to $1 per head.

The northern part of the town of Independence is made unfashionable by the presence of Chinamen.

The estate of the late J. T. Coomes, who was murdered in Eastern Oregon by the Indians last July, has been appraised at the sum of $1,500.

Elder Bruce Wolverton has accepted the call to continue his services as pastor of the McMinnville Christian congregation for the ensuing year.

Pendleton Independent: Bands of sheep are being bought at extremely low figures by moneyed stock men in various parts of this county during this season of the year.

The sawmill at Grand Ronde has lately changed hands, Messrs Daugherty & Lady, the former proprietors having sold out to Messrs. H. C. Rowell, G. G. Litchfield and Dell Ellis.

Mr. P. M. Carey was quite badly hurt one day last week by being struck on the forehead by a block belonging to the block and tackle with which he was grubbing in the grove near McMinnville.

Two weeks ago, the house of Dennis Maloney, who lives near where the Canyon City road crosses Fifteenmile creek, while the owner was enjoying a visit at the residence of one of his neighbors was destroyed by fire from unknown causes.

Dallas Inland Empire: The prayer services at the Methodist church have been going on during the past fortnight under the supervision of Elders Whitcomb and Koontz. Some fifty or sixty converts have joined the church during the late revival.

Dallas Itemizer: The epizootic, or a disease somewhat similar, has appeared among the horses in King's valley. Our Lewisville correspondent informs us that last week Mr. Wilson Bump lost one and Mr. Barney Cady two horses by the disease.

The Dallas Itemizer reports that the aprons of the bridge across the Luckiamute, some two miles above Buena Vista, have been washed away during the past week and travel is impeded. The mail carrier is compelled to foot it about a mile in order to get through from Buena Vista to Albany.

The Corvallis Gazette is jubilant over the fact that the O. & C. R. R. (west side) will be extended to that city the coming summer. And well it may rejoice. Corvallis has been at a standstill for many years, and the extension of this road will give a new impetus to business, and awaken the business men of Benton from the lethargy which has so nigh caused the death of the town.

We have received the first number of the River Side, a paper which will hereafter be published weekly at Independence in Polk county by Quivey & Stanley. Its salutatory announces that it purposes to keep out of politics, will be independent in all things, and will be particularly a local newspaper. This is the right sort of a platform, and the issue before us is its honest exponent.

The Pendleton Independent prints the following call for a mass meeting in its advertising columns: The citizens of Umatilla county are requested to meet at the court house in Pendleton, in mass meeting, on Saturday, the 1st day of February next, at 1 o'clock P. M. The object of the meeting is to take such steps as the meeting may determine on for the removal of the Indians from the Umatilla reservation and to devise means for better protection against an Indian outbreak. After speaking editorially in favor of the proposition, the Independent says "The meeting has also another object in view, which interests every person, and that is preparation for protection against another Indian outbreak next summer. The generally expressed opinion is that we shall have another Indian war next spring, and it is therefore a duty that every citizen owes to himself and to the women and children of our county to be prepared under proper organization should necessity require their services. Turn out, all who can, and let us have a mass meeting."

Canada's Pacific Railroad.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

Canada's Pacific railroad is a big thing—on paper. It is longer than our Pacific line, stretching from Montreal through Ottawa, around the northern shore of Lake Superior, on across the Red and Saskatchewan rivers, and through a natural pass in the Rocky mountains to Bute Inlet on the Pacific coast, —2,990 miles in all, and most of the distance unbroken wilderness. Between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 has been spent, and much scandal caused in establishing lines, but cars are only running from Thunder Bay on Lake Superior 120 miles west, though by next fall another section of thirty six miles is to be finished, and the contract has just been let for the 180 miles more to the Red River of the North. The road is blasted through the rocks with nitro glycerine along this section, but the line is to have considerable less elevation in crossing the Rocky mountains than that already finished to San Francisco.

Why Grant Backed out.

[Louisville Courier-Journal. (Dem.)]

It is now said that Grant was at first strongly inclined to accept the Bulgarian crown, but declined at the suggest on of his friend, John Russell Young, who convinced him that he could do much better by waiting, as it would not be very long before so many of the European thrones would be made vacant by assassination that the very best of them would be going at mere shop shop prices.

THE DISTRICT FAIR AGAIN.

West side is correct. The sand claim of Kennedy & Tice would make a much better location for the District Fair, than any land on the East side.

It has all the advantages to be derived from railroad, and is of easy access by private conveyance—beside it can be purchased for one-third of the cost of the land, suggested by Mr. Miller. It is said that Old Donne Donation Claim, one mile below the Guild land claim, can be purchased for thirty-five dollars an acre. If so, that is the best place in the three counties for the District Fair Grounds. It is only three miles from Portland and getting nearer every year. It is of easy access by steamboat and a beautiful road can be made to it for private conveyance. It will be one of the most delightful drives in the country. If the Fair Grounds are located there, it will be a strong inducement for the owners of the land between that place and Portland to make a good road. Portions of the Fair Ground can be leased continually for pleasure resorts, and will constantly yield a handsome revenue. The mountain streams affording an abundance of pure water can be raised if necessary, fifty feet above the river banks; it can be carried on top or through any land all buildings that may be erected, and affording water for the finest fountains in the country. There can be plenty of level land for race tracks and other amusements. There is also a beautiful lake upon the tract that can be utilized advantageously. Why this incessant demand by the East side for money from our people to build up their prices in order that they can sell out at big figures, or to enhance the value of their lands?

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING JAN 27 1879

LURLINA

BY SAM D SIMPSON

Beneath a wintry moon love
The tented hills repose
But all my soul is June love
And all my heart a rose
A softer moon than he is
Pours down its mellow rays
And lights some fairer land and warm
A sweet old dream surprising
Remembrance with its charm

The town lies twinkling yonder
Another world than this
We have no thought to squander
On wooden tall auditories
Under the locusts talking
We breathe a fairer line
The stars and flowers are talking
And that is all design

The season wreathed with bees
The throbbing summer night
Make love a holy duty—
All love the light
The birds above us nestle
As deep with folded wing—
We hear their soft plumes rustle
They almost wake and sing

We did not drain the cuckoo
But quaffed its rich bouquet
May be twas grace no malt
That snatched the cup away
You want your way serenely
And I want mine with blame
Your brow was fair and queenly
And mine was red with flame

Lurlina heaven flies not
From souls it once has blessed
First love may fade but dies no
Though wounded and distressed
The star long since departed
Still shines to dust-veiled eyes
And so the broken hearted
Still cherish golden lies

Though after days deride us
With Hymen s broken ring
We know that once beside us
An angel stooped his wings
And angels come so rarely
Along life s troubled way
We may remember fairly
The moment, as the day

We leave our dead with yearning
Where the daisies drink the dew,
And live our lives in learning
That dreams alone are true
For dreams, in wild expansions
Of moonlit locust trees
Have built such perfect mansions
And wrought such rosaries!

Adieu Like ships at ocean
That nevermore may meet
We pass in life's free motion
To victory and defeat,
Your bark yet eastward sailing
Will seek the pearl of day
But mine with songs of wailing
Drift on in purple spray

SHERMAN AND THURMAN

TOO TREMBLERS ON THE BRINK OF PUBLIC OPINION—THE SAD PERDICAMENT OF A BRACE OF BUCKEYE STATESMEN

[Washington Special to Cincinnati Enquirer Dem]

There is no one topic affecting the political situation which gives so much concern to the leaders in both political organizations as the result of the campaign in Ohio next fall Both sides admit that the verdict there delivered will be to either frock or unfrock two public men who are looming up quite prominently as presidential candidates Thurman, no matter how the kaleidoscope is twisted, is confronted with the phantom of Sherman not only is the great wrecker a mawworm to the Columbus statesman, but to leading Republicans as well

Nearly a month ago, when in these dispatches the purpose of Sherman to use the people of Ohio to again gain political power by making the race for the governor's chair was made known he was immediately beset by scores of correspondents to give a flat footed denial to the intentions therein imputed to him No correspondent has yet authority from him to deny that he will accept the gubernatorial nomination, if tendered him On the contrary, there is the authority of a gentleman high in public life who conversed with him on the subject, that he was more than gratified that his name had been mentioned, and the agitation of his possible candidacy pleases rather than displeases him

In spite of this, however, Sherman does not expect to be called upon to make the canvass His ambition points in another direction. He wants it to be within his power to control the nomination and then with this prestige gained, trade for either the Ohio delegation in the national Republican nominating convention for Ohio s vote for the presidential nomination or else the senatorship Thurman s term which makes the senatorial vacancy does not expire until 1881 This gives Sherman a chance to play for the presidential nomination, and, if he fails to still be ready for the senatorial togs The pet scheme of the president to keep his cabinet coexistent with his term need not be interfered with, as the day Hayes' term expires the new senatorial term commences

Thurman s position is one which puzzles him and his friends not a little If he should make the gubernatorial race and fail, his higher ambition would be dwarfed If somebody else should make it and fail the loss of the senate will be charged to his refusal to lead the Democratic hosts If any other Democratic candidate should win there are plenty to say that the victory should not be ascribed to Thurman, but to the person who actually led the ticket

There is a growing feeling here, too that Thurman is doing a little too much trimming It sometimes pays to be courageous in politics and the opportunity is now upon Thurman to display a little His letter to the St Jackson s carnival gathering is hardly what was really expected of him In no portion does he indicate what his policy toward the national banks is to be True, he incidentally alluded to moneyed corporations but this language does not smack with that vigor which made Andrew Jackson famous Ewing's reference to him rather puzzled the politicians also. They hardly know whether Ewing really meant to pay him a compliment or to crowd the limit by forcing him to the position of a making a renewed and vigorous warfare on the money power They speculate on the possible fact that while Ewing may have had the idea to popularize him in the west he meant to force him where he would get a good kniving in the east to ladies on many years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual This accounts in part for his great professional success

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps

Everything strictly confidential and honorable
